BIG PROBLEMS FOR: DODGE CITY WAR: 7 MARCH 1967:
HISTORICAL:

WHY ALL THIS HOO-HA ABOUT THE RULE BOOK CAN'T BE CHANGED OR ADDED TO?

IT WAS CHANGED ONCE ALREADY!

YES! About Two (2) years ago, in 1965, a second version of the rulebook came with the set I purchased from Games Research. This copy varies in places from the copy that John Koenig has received with his set. I have a photocopy of the first and the original of the second in front of me as I write this Editorial.

The change was printed when Games Research went from the zone number in Boston 18, Mass. to the new zipcode of Boston, Mass. -02118. The printing plates of the inside pages were also changed at that time.

I shall now call these the "Old" version & the "New" Version. The "New" version had three major paragraphs added that the "Old" version did not have!

On page four (4) under CUTTING SUPPORTS: Two (2) new paragraphs were inserted between the (only) two paragraphs of the "Old" version to make the four (4) paragraph "new" version.

Added-

"Example I. Germany: Army Prussia to Warsaw, Army Silesia supports Prussia to Warsaw. Russia: Army Warsaw stands, Army Bohemia to Silesia. No pieces move. The army in Silesia defends itself from the attack from Bohemia, leaving the Prussian army unsupported in its attack on the Warsaw army."

"Example II. Germany: same as above. Russia: Army Warsaw to Silesia. The Prussian army moves to Warsaw, and the Russian army must retreat. The ordered to support (the Silesian army) in a given province (Warsaw) was not attacked from a different province (from Warsaw). There is no way the single Russian army can hold Warsaw against this supported attack." (unit)

On page five (5) under STANDING AND RECEIVING SUPPORT: there are two (2) paragraphs in the "New" version and there is but one (1) paragraph in the "Old" version.

Added a new second paragraph-

"If a piece is ordered to move, and another piece is ordered to support the first piece in its original position "provided it fails to move", the support order is void. The player must elect whether to attempt a move or to stand and receive support."

So above in black-and-white is proof that the rule book was once changed.

So will Games Research and Aller Calhoun quit trying to tell people that the rules can't, or won't, be changed as this is not the truth.

Also will certain editors quit trying to tell others that the rule book should not be changed as that same about two years behind the times. (Group of editors)

Will others quit saying that this was a copyright problem. Actually both are listed as "Copyright 1961, Games Research." By the way if you make changes and do not submit a new copyright you lose your copyright under current copyright law. How about that? Conclusion: Will games Research make the much needed changes, copyright them, and everybody will be HAPPY?

Propaganda: RUSSIA TO TURKEY: Okay, but why should I be penalized because you miss a move?

ITALY TO AUSTRIA: "Can't Win Them All".

AUSTRIA TO ITALY: Glad you like the climate around.
You're going to have three armies tied up here a long, long time. Is Trieste worth all that? Most everyone else is getting bigger and bigger while you and I stay and enjoy the climate.
By letting us have Trieste, you release three armies and open the door to important talks. Don't wait for England alone.

Our policy here at the publisher of "Big Brother" is to refuse all offers to trade Diplomacy since. If you want B.B. PLAY in it!
